Lions in the pink for breast cancer appeal

They sing "No One Likes Us" and have something of a reputation.

But Millwall fans are proving they have a generous streak – and a genuine sense of humour – by going back to the fuchsia to raise money for breast cancer.

Lions supporters are backing the Breast Cancer Campaign's Wear It Pink event by dressing in pink for next month's home match with Bournemouth.

A club spokesman said: "Having noticed an increasing number of supporters wearing pink shirts at The Den this season - we thought it would be an idea to ask Lions fans to wear pink with pride.

"Whether they are a chap or chappess, we're sure they can dig out something pink, such as a shirt, T-shirt, dress, tie, ribbon, shoes, socks or stockings - whatever they fancy."

Millwall players will also be supporting the event by warming up for the game in special pink T-shirts which will be signed and auctioned to raise money for the Breast Cancer Campaign.

There will also be a collection plus loads of valuable information available from the club's big blue double-decker bus in the car park before kick-off.

Lions manager Willie Donachie said: "We hope our supporters will get behind Wear It Pink and help raise some more much-needed funds for their essential breast cancer research."

MALTA MOZZIE BITES UNITED

He has not started a League match for Coventry this season.

But Michael Mifsud showed he is up for the Carling Cup as he helped the Sky Blues pull off the biggest shock of the week.

The Maltese striker, nicknamed The Mosquito, fired both goals as Iain Dowie's Championship side toppled mighty Manchester United in the Third Round with a 2-0 victory at Old Trafford.

Mifsud said: "Many people in Malta support Manchester United, but after this maybe a few more will support Coventry."

Elsewhere in the Third Round Cardiff completed a stunning 4-2 victory at West Brom - the Bluebirds' first victory at the Hawthorns for 50 years.

And the joke doing the rounds was that the only three people in the stadium who could remember that 1957 success, were City's three veteran goalscorers.

Robbie Fowler, 32, scored twice whilst Jimmy Floyd Hasselbaink, 35, and Trevor Sinclair, 34, were also on target as the visitors went 4-0 up inside 30 minutes.

Boss Dave Jones said: "They were excellent and proved sometimes there is no substitute for experience."

Morecambe's Carling Cup adventure ended with a 5-0 defeat at Sheffield United, while Arsenal beat Newcastle 2-0 in front of 60,000 fans.

The draw for the Fourth Round will be shown live on Sky Sports 1 at 12.15pm tomorrow.

League put their Trust in Edmundson's hands

EDMUNDSON: Head of Trust

The Football League has formed a new body called The Football League Trust to oversee Community and Youth Development activities at its clubs, arising from the Premier League's 'solidarity payments' to The League.

Former Burnley Chief Executive Dave Edmundson will be General Manager of the new Trust, starting on October 15.

The Trust's primary function will be to manage the Premier League's annual contributions of £5.4m and £4m respectively towards clubs' Youth Development and Community programmes.

Football League Chairman Lord Mawhinney said: "The formation of the Trust will help give greater clarity to arrangements between clubs, The League and our funding partners in the important areas of Community and Youth Development.

"Not only will this provide more funding than clubs have had in the past but it will also provide them with more support than they have experienced previously.

"This, in turn, will enable them to concentrate their efforts on the vital role they have in building links with the communities they serve. Additionally, clubs will be able to continue their work identifying, training and educating the young footballers of the future."

Dave Edmundson said: "To be given the opportunity of being the first person to head up The Football League Trust is a great thrill and a great challenge. I look forward to working with League clubs to help them build on the already impressive contribution they make in these important areas."

Brothers' business is booming

They may ply their trade in the Football League, but James and Adam Chambers always have eyes on the Italian table.

Not to mention a nice set of chairs to go with it.

Leicester defender James, 26, and his twin brother Adam, who plays for Leyton Orient, have a great chance of silverware this season regardless of where their clubs finish. For the pair run their own online furniture store with a couple of pals.

Adam said: "We're not removal men who do house clearances or anything like that. We sell quality furniture from Italy over the internet."

"We do everything from beds to sofas. We've been in business a couple of years and it's going really well.

"We've got a few prestigious clients and I've tried to get some of the lads interested - there are a few orders in the pipeline."

"When you concentrate on football day after day, you need something to test you intellectually."

"I don't know of any other players who have moved into furniture. It is a bit unusual but at least it means our own places are furnished well."

As well as being business partners, the Chambers twins used to share a pad before James moved to Leicester from Watford. James added: "We played in the same teams as kids and joined West Brom together before going our separate ways."

SOFA SO GOOD: Furniture business is great for James

GUNTER: Cardiff youngster was last year's winner

Search is on for top apprentice

Wickes, the Official Home Improvement Partner of The Championship, is once again setting out to recognise the finest young talent in The Football League.

The Coca-Cola Championship's best young players will battle it out to be named the 2007/08 Wickes Young Apprentice Of The Year. As well as the trophy the winning player will receive £5,000 towards his club's youth development scheme.

Last year's winner was Cardiff City's 18-year-old Welsh wonder Chris Gunter, who broke into the Welsh club's first team. Gunter went on to make his full international debut for Wales in May 2007.

Gunter said: "It was amazing to be recognised with the Wickes Young Apprentice trophy last year and great to know that all the hard work, on and off the pitch, is being acknowledged."

The award will be judged by a panel including ex-Aston Villa star Andy Townsend and Wickes sports sponsorship manager Matt Holmes.

Holmes said: "Youth players are proving to be vital to clubs in the Championship and we are very proud to once again provide a platform to showcase this country's brightest young stars."

The shortlist of the final players will be announced in January 2008, with the winner presented with his award at the Football League Awards ceremony in London in March along with similar awards for the leading apprentices in Leagues 1 and 2.

Cherries welcome sports minister

Minister for Sport Gerry Sutcliffe took some time out from the Labour party conference this week - for a kick about at Bournemouth's Fitness First Stadium.

The VIP guest swapped key note speeches for football talk when he visited the Cherries' ground on Wednesday.

Cherries bosses gave the Minister a guided tour of the facilities and demonstrated the good work done by the club off the field through the Football League In The Community scheme.

After the behind-the-scenes tour Sutcliffe swapped his suit and tie for football boots and took part in a coaching session with school kids from Kinson Primary School.

Chief Executive Laurence Jones greeted Sutcliffe and introduced the MP to Cherries stars including Neil Young and ex-England international Darren Anderton.

Sutcliffe said: "It's not just about the match on a Saturday afternoon it's about giving everyone the opportunity to get involved in sport through coaching in the community and using sport as a way of raising awareness, sense of achievement and self esteem."

"It's good to see people happy and kicking a ball around."

"The business model at Bournemouth is a good one. The Supporters Trust are heavily involved in the running of the club and I believe that the model here is one that should be used elsewhere."

SUTCLIFFE: VIP guest

The chairman's wife is cooking for the lads...

Jeffers out to fox 'em

By PAUL JIGGINS

Bradford players are licking their lips at the thought of their next away game.

And it is all because the chairman's wife does all the cooking when they are on their travels.

Yvonne Lawn has brought in her own menus to help the players with their special diets.

Husband Mark, who joined Julian Rhodes at the helm of the Coca-Cola League 2 club in the summer, said: "Yvonne's an excellent cook - you only have to look at me to see that!"

"She's a dab hand in the kitchen so when new manager Stuart McCall and his assistant Wayne Jacobs said they wanted the players to have nutritious meals on the coach home after games it seemed logical to rope her in to do them.

"She knows all about healthy eating, and she makes sure the lads are eating the right stuff. At home she cooks the best chilli con carne in the world, but that would be no good for the players.

RECIPE FOR SUCCESS: Bradford are on the up thanks to their co-chairman wife's cooking

"She does them lots of pasta and chicken dishes."

Yvonne spends hours in the kitchen preparing a range of tasty meals which are stored in cool boxes on the team coach. They are then heated up at the away ground after the game - before being delivered back to the bus ready for the players to eat on their journey home.

Mark added: "It saves having to stop for something to eat.

"Some managers in the past used to like to pull over for fish and chips or even pizzas.

"But Stuart and Wayne don't want that - they realise how important diet is to fitness.

"Yvonne's cooking has gone done brilliantly with the players.

"David Weatherall, our captain, says it's the best part of away games."

Francis Jeffers will be hoping he can put a scoring run together when Sheffield Wednesday visit Norwich for the first of the weekend's two televised matches.

Jeffers, who was Arsene Wenger's 'fox in the box' when he was at Arsenal, hit his first goal for the Owls in their 1-0 victory over Hull.

And he will be aiming to shoot down the Canaries in tomorrow's clash at Carrow Road, which kicks off at 5.20pm on Sky Sports 1.

West Brom welcome QPR to the Hawthorns in Sunday's live match, which kicks off at 1.15pm (SS1).

The Baggies will be out to banish memories of their Carling Cup exit at the hands of Cardiff, while Rangers are searching for their first victory of the campaign.

Matt Smith reviews Saturday's League action in The Championship on ITV1 at 10.50am on Sunday.

In the nick for charity

Doncaster chairman John Ryan and managing director Stuart Highfield are bracing themselves for a spell behind bars.

Not that they have done anything wrong. On the contrary, they are forces for good.

The pair have agreed to be banged up to raise money for local victims of the recent floods.

The Keepmoat Two - as they are being dubbed - will be "nicked" in Doncaster town centre on December 6 and taken to the local "Doncatraz" prison, where they will be processed like real cons and put into prison clothes.

They will be locked up until they can each raise a minimum of £500 "bail" by telephone. Ryan said: "I always said I would end up in the nick one day - but not this quick."
