GREAT SPORTS: Leicester allow Forest keeper Paul Smith to score straight from the kick off at the City Ground

By PAUL JIGGINS

History will record that Tuesday's rearranged Carling Cup tie finished Nottingham Forest 2 Leicester City 3.

But, in truth, the real winner on the night was football – after one of the greatest acts of sportsmanship in the history of the game.

The Carling Cup became the Caring Cup as the Foxes allowed Forest keeper Paul Smith to put his side 1-0 up straight from the kick off.

That was score when the original Second Round tie between the clubs was abandoned at half-time after City defender Clive Clarke suffered a heart failure.

Leicester's chairman Milan Mandaric, manager Gary Megson and the players came up with the idea to thank Forest for agreeing to the abandonment.

Megson informed Forest boss Colin Calderwood of his side's intentions shortly before kick off.

Megson, who only took over from Martin Allen as Foxes boss last week, said: "We just felt it was the right and proper thing to do. The first game finished in tragic circumstances with Clive's heart attack.

"But the rules say Forest would have been perfectly entitled to play out the game. We felt it was therefore the right thing to do.

"I wasn't at the first game but I have been told Forest were well on top and by all accounts it could have been all over by half-time.

"We wanted to make sure the game kicked off how it had finished.

"It was a difficult thing to organise because of the betting. We didn't want people to know what was going on so I spoke to Colin about 15 minutes before kick off and said what we intended to do.

"I told him that as the captains were tossing the coin I would tell him which player should score so there would be no suggestion of impropriety on Colin's part – or anybody at Nottingham Forest.

"Regardless of the score we knew it was the right thing to do."

Calderwood said: "I was taken aback, but it was an honourable gesture and I would like to think that football in general came out of the game as the winner."

Football League Head of Communications John Nagle said: "Leicester and Nottingham Forest's actions over the two matches are a demonstration of the true spirit of football at its very best."

Clarke is counting down

Picture the scene. It's nearing the end of a match at Turf Moor when the fourth official holds up his board of numbers...and Clarke Carlisle says: "I'll have one from the top and five from the bottom, please Carol."

The Burnley defender became Britain's Brainiest Footballer after winning the TV show in 2002, but he does not intend to stop there.

The former QPR, Leeds and Watford star has revealed his ambition is to appear on Channel Four's hit TV quiz Countdown – co-hosted by Carol Vorderman.

He said: "I applied to go on Countdown, but I fluffed the audition by choking.

"There were no cameras, just a little room in a hotel in King's Cross, and I think I was just super excited I might be going on Countdown.

"I was gutted because I could be the greatest-ever Countdown contestant.

"Nobody will beat me, ever, and I might have another pop at it when I finish playing."

That old gag about having more clubs than Jack Nicklaus could have been written for Trevor Benjamin.

Hereford are the well-travelled striker's SIXTEENTH club of his career – and the sixth in the last two years.

Before joining the Bulls in the summer, he had permanent stints at Peterborough, Coventry, Northampton, Leicester and Cambridge.

Then there were the loan spells at Crystal Palace, Norwich, West Brom, Gillingham, Rushden & Diamonds, Brighton, Watford, Swindon, Boston and Walsall.

He has also played for non-League Kettering Town, the England Under-21 team and the Jamaica national team. And the 6ft 2in hitman is still only 28!

Hereford boss Graham Turner said: "Everybody knows he has been around a long time. It wasn't so long ago that he cost £1.5 million when he moved to Leicester from Cambridge.

"We're hoping that he'll be very effective for us."

My dad is tops

Little David Lisbie will never forget the day he was mascot at Colchester – and neither will his dad.

The five-year-old led out the Essex side for their home clash with Charlton and then watched his dad Kevin score a goal against his former club in the 2-2 draw at Layer Road.

Striker Lisbie, who joined the U's from the Addicks in the summer, said: "It was a big day for David. He spent five years watching me play for Charlton, and it took me 30 minutes to explain to him why I was playing against them.

"He's watched me since he was a little baby. He was happy that I scored, and I couldn't stop myself from celebrating that goal against my old club."

It was Lisbie's third goal of the season and all of them have been headers.

He added: "Now I want to score two or three goals with my feet."

Transfer makes horse sense!

By PAUL JIGGINS

Some free transfers turn out to be donkeys – but this one is a horse.

And it all stemmed from a bit of horse-trading between Plymouth boss Ian Holloway and his Cardiff counterpart Dave Jones after their sides met at Home Park.

Jones followed his big-name summer signings of Robbie Fowler, Jimmy Floyd Hasselbaink and Trevor Sinclair by agreeing a deal for one of Holloway's daughters' horses.

Ollie said: "My daughters have three horses and I decided we had to get rid of one.

"They aren't happy, but I had to put my foot down.

"He is called Tommy and is part Arab. He's a very clever horse, but he's surplus to requirements because my daughters have got two other horses.

"When I chatted to Dave we discovered Tommy, who is also known as Alim, was just what he was looking for.

"So I invited Dave to bring his horsebox down, have a look at Tommy and, if they like each other, take him away.

"We want Tommy to go to a good home – and Dave's place is just spot on.

"Dave has agreed to have him. His daughter can't ride the two they have at the moment.

"So he's going on a free transfer, a Bosman."

Paddy powers in for the children

Paddy Kenny loves marathons. Rival fans reckon he's eaten tons of 'em.

But the Sheffield United keeper has emerged this season as a lean, mean running machine – after completing the equivalent of three marathons in three days during the summer.

Kenny – and his trainer Steve Greaves – ran the 78 miles from Skegness to Dinnington, near Sheffield, to raise thousands of pounds for the Bluebell Wood Children's Hospice.

He said: "I'd never done anything like it before – it's the hardest thing I've ever had to do, especially with the heat and everything. But I'm still really glad we did it.

"It was worth the pain to raise money for such a good cause and we had a good laugh even though it was hard work.

"Loads of people turned out to join us for the last mile, which was nice and helped us through.

"It was great to see so many coming out to support the charity."

As well as raising pounds, the Republic of Ireland star also shed a bit of excess weight.

PADDY POWER: The keeper and his running partner Steve

He admitted: "I have lost a stone and half and feel fitter than ever.

"Fans won't be able to sing at me now."

The hospice will care for poorly kids from across South Yorkshire and the surrounding area.

Community fundraiser

Helen Mower said: "It was just fabulous what Paddy and Steve did for our charity.

"They always have a fully booked diary and family life but they put so much work in."

Deano is putting wind up big guns

England and Chelsea skipper John Terry is probably having nightmares about facing Dean Windass in a cup tie again.

Windass gave a young Terry a fright when he scored for Oxford against Chelsea in an FA Cup Fourth Round tie in 1999.

Only Frank Leboeuf's injury-time penalty saved the Blues from a humiliating exit.

Windass also netted in the replay at Stamford Bridge as Chelsea and Terry were pushed all the way before running out 4-2 winners.

The pair will lock horns again when Windass lines up for Hull against Chelsea in the second of two Carling Cup Third Round ties on the box next week.

Wednesday night's action from the KC Stadium kicks off at 7.45pm on Sky Sports 1.

There is a double bill of live Coca-Cola Championship action tomorrow. Cardiff, who drew 2-2 at Plymouth when last in front of the cameras, welcome Preston to Ninian Park for their 12.45pm kick off (SS1).

High-flying Coventry then travel to Ipswich for their 5.20pm kick off (SS1).

Iain Dowie's men will be in good heart after earning a late point from their midweek trip to his old club Crystal Palace.

Matt Smith reviews the weekend's Football League action on The Championship on ITV1 at 11am on Sunday.

Six out of six! Jack is all right

By ANDY LULHAM

Chesterfield is more famous for goalkeepers than goalscorers, but Jack Lester is bucking the trend.

The Spireites striker has scored in each of his last six matches to bring joy to the Derbyshire market town that has produced top stoppers Gordon Banks, Bob Wilson and John Lukic.

Lester, who arrived at Saltergate in the summer, is thriving in his partnership with fellow new-boy Steve Fletcher.

Former Forest man Lester said: "Me and Steve just seem to have clicked."

Lester failed to score in the opening day goalless draw at Chester, but he has had no trouble finding the net since then.

He followed his goal in the 3-1 Carling Cup defeat at Sheffield United by netting in the matches against Stockport County, Peterborough United, Wycombe Wanderers, Bury and Mansfield Town.

Red-hot Lester's form is helping him to erase memories of his summer departure from Forest.

Lester, who was also at Grimsby and Sheffield United, was released after Forest's shattering defeat by Yeovil in the Coca-Cola League 1 Play-Offs semi-final.

He said: "It was disappointing to go. It would have been nice to have left with a promotion."

Guitar man Andy is a real true blues brother

By PAUL JIGGINS

Andy Reid may play for the reds, but his heart lies in the blues.

The Charlton playmaker has earned the plaudits for his midfield masterclasses in the Championship this season.

But Reid is also getting rave reviews for pulling strings off the pitch as he is something of a player on the guitar.

The Republic of Ireland star entertained his Addicks' team-mates at their pre-season training camp in Spain.

And he hopes to bring the house down again when he plays his first gig at the opening night of his new Blues bar in Nottingham.

Reid has teamed up with hotel owner Alan Hancock to reopen the Running Horse in Alfreton Road.

Nearly £300,000 has been spent on turning the Grade II listed pub into a stylish, student-orientated bar. The pair took over the pub last year but have been fighting to get planning permission for the ambitious revamp.

The bar will be renamed The Runner - the affectionate nickname given to the pub during its blues days - and will continue to sell itself around live music.

Reid will make his music

DUET: Team-mate Chris provided vocals debut at its VIP launch next month. A host of international bands have also been lined up but their identities are being kept secret.

Reid remains modest about his musical prowess, but Charlton team-mate Chris Iwelumo said: "The boy can play all right.

"He blew us all away when he provided the music at our talent night in Spain. Nobody realised how good he was.

"I was just going to sing Scotland The Brave, but he got me to perform Bob Dylan's Knockin' On Heaven's Door and it went down a storm. He was awesome.

"A career in music definitely beckons for him when he hangs up his boots."

Robins give it a Wurzel

Bristol City have topped the Championship this season - now they are aiming to top the charts.

The Robins have enlisted legendary West Country outfit The Wurzels to re-record the club anthem One For The Bristol City.

Proceeds from the sale of the track will be donated to the BUI Prostate Cancer Care Appeal.

An Ashton Gate spokesman said: "We are very pleased with the results and it is intended the team will run out to the new version at all home games for the rest of this season."

Manager Gary Johnson, some of his squad and The Wurzels hope to receive the pop star treatment when they attend a special signing session at the city's Virgin Megastore on Thursday between 4.30-5.30pm.

Malta is hot for Michael Coventry are becoming the best-supported English club in Malta - thanks to their striker Michael Mifsud.

The Maltese star's arrival at the Ricoh Arena in January has created a new Sky Blue fanbase in the Med.

He said: "Football is the main sport in Malta but it has a poor league.

"There are quite a few fanatics who have always been interested in the Premier League.

"But I spoke to a friend on the internet who chats all the time to football fans on Malta and he told me there are an increasing number of people on the island following my career and Coventry's performances in the Championship.

"I don't know if that is just down to me - I'm sure a lot more people are interested because we're doing well!"
